

Featured Project: Cleveland House, London

Stone Type: Limestone, Granite

On St. James Square in London's West End, this high specification office building is clad externally in limestone. Various complex architectural features are incorporated such as columns, cornices and rusticated ashlar.

Internally, Stirling Stone supplied and fitted limestone floor and wall tiles and granite vanity tops. (Regular viewers of the BBC series "Hotel Babylon" will recognise the front entrance area of the building.)
