

Featured Project: Hunting Lodge, Dingwall

Stone Type: Marble

A highly patterned marble floor was created here to mimic the effect created by light shining through a stained glass window in a European cathedral.

The materials chosen complemented the colours in the stained glass window which was incorporated within the stairwell of this new hunting lodge. The window itself had been salvaged and restored as a centrepiece to the main staircase.