

Featured Project: Centre 1, East Kilbride

Stone Type: Slate

This building complex houses the central tax office for Scotland.

Stirling Stone carried out a full design, supply and installation package for the slate flooring and staircases to the main public entrance area and access atrium.

These works included paving to the main ground floor entrance circulation areas. This slate theme was then extended up various flights of stairs in the atrium. Each slate tread had contrasting discs of granite set into the nosings to define the step edges for the visually impaired.
