

Featured Project: Greenside Place, Edinburgh

Stone Type: Sandstone, Limestone

This office and leisure development dominates the top of Leith Street at the east end of Princes Street. The front of the building is clad in buff sandstone, while the curved glass entrance atrium marks the transition into the limestone cladding on the rear elevations.

Part of the project involved stone restoration works to the neighbouring Lady Glenorchy Church.

